International Course on transportation Planning and safety

Introduction

The Transportation Research and Injury Prevention Programme (WHO Collaborating Centre for Research and Training in Safety Technology) at the Indian Institute of Technology, Delhi, is organizing a seven day "International Course on Transportation Planning and Safety". The course will be held in Delhi, India, 08-14 December 2003. The Transportation Research and Injury Prevention Programme (TRIPP) at the Indian Institute of Technology will be the host Institution.

Course Objectives:

This seven day Course will bring together professionals working in the area of transportation planning and safety promotion to acquaint them with the state-of-the-art information in the field. The Course is especially designed for an interdisciplinary audience of law enforcers, police officers, traffic and road engineers, behavioral scientists, and mechanical engineers. The contents of the Course are especially focused to give a global perspective to the road safety and injury control problems.

By the end of the Course the participants should:

know about the latest findings in methodologies for traffic planning prevention of traffic accident and injuries be aware of policies and methods which have been shown to be successful or have not worked in the past be able to improve or start their own programmes on traffic planning and safety promotion.
